

Associate Level Building Surveyor

Employer: Curzon Management

Location: North West London

Salary: £50,000 - £60,000 commensurate on experience

We are a property and construction consultancy based in NW London, looking for an Associate Level Building Surveyor to lead our team. Curzon is well established and has been providing excellent service to an impressive line-up of clients for the past 12 years. Our multi-disciplinary firm services London & SE England across a range of sectors including commercial, residential, educational and religious sectors.

You would be coming on board to work on various projects but with a focus on residential work. Ideally you will be Chartered, with several years' experience in a consultancy environment and be skilled across a full suite of both project and professional work and in particular Party Wall.

The team works with a range of private clients from property companies, property management firms and home owners. You will enjoy a large level of autonomy and ownership of projects and be first point of contact with clients and colleagues. You will be working closely with the MD on a day-to-day basis.

This is a great opportunity for a Building Surveyor tired of large corporate life, but wanting to join a highly professional, friendly team of talented surveyors.

Requirements:

- 6+ years experience
- Party wall experience
- Excellent interpersonal skills

Curzon will provide:

- Ability to make an impact
- Major growth potential
- Excellent resources & colleague support
- Friendly working environment
